

4200 SERIES BULK BED

The strongest. The lightest. The best.

SIMPLY THE BEST

A 4200 series bulk bed is built light yet very strong. It combines the highest payload with reliability and a drive system that will always start no matter what the loads or conditions are. A market share of over 65% proves: the majority of American farm operations rely on Spudnik bulk beds for transporting potatoes, beets, onions, and grain.

"These boxes are very reliable, with low maintenance and very few problems. That's always a factor when you are in the midst of harvest. No breakdowns means everything, in fact, we like them so much, we've recommended them to our custom haulers."
